

INTERN DEACON

Wicklow & Killiskey parishes look forward to welcoming Alexander Aquilla Chisnall as an Intern Deacon, commencing in September 2021. Alistair is marrying Hannah Moore in August in their home parish of Crinken. During his final year of college he will spend time in the parishes assisting with worship and experiencing parish life as an ordained minister. He will also be writing a dissertation for his MTh degree. We pray that Alexander and Hannah may be blessed by their time with us and prove a blessing to the parishioners and clergy.

THE HUB

Ashford Charity Shop is open from 11am-3pm on Mondays and Saturdays and from 10am-4pm on Tuesdays to Fridays.

CLEANING PRODUCTS

A stroll along the cleaning aisles in a supermarket will reveal a staggering array of different products, each with the aim of cleaning specific areas in our homes or our bodies. Some of them have two attendant environmental consequences attached: most are packaged in plastic while many are filled with chemicals that can affect both our health and the receiving environment. A glance at the contents can reveal a worrying number of toxic ingredients. Bleach is particularly harmful as, once mixed with water and washed down the drain, it can cause dioxins to be released, which are carcinogenic. Initially, smaller niche-market shops started selling eco-friendly products but now some supermarkets do too, due to consumer demand. Examples to reduce plastic include bamboo toothbrushes, soap instead of shower gel, bars of shampoo soap and deodorant, washing powder in cardboard boxes (as they used to be) and, most importantly, buy fewer cleaning products. Our forebears used simpler cleaning agents, that were kinder to both humans and the environment - soap and water; white vinegar; bicarbonate of soda. The addition of lemon juice or essential oils can add a pleasant smell.
